

Children Performance Poetry Funny Poems For School Programs And Having Fun

Children's performance poetry is a great way to get kids excited about reading, writing, and performing. It can help them develop their creativity, confidence, and communication skills. When kids perform poetry, they learn how to project their voices, use their bodies expressively, and connect with an audience. They also learn how to listen to others and to appreciate different perspectives.

Funny poems are a great way to get kids engaged and laughing. They can also be a great way to teach them about important topics like friendship, kindness, and diversity. Here are a few funny poems that you can use for school programs:

- The Jellyfish by Jack Prelutsky

There once was a jellyfish named Fred, Who was always getting bumped on the head. He'd float around all day, Bumping into things in his way. One day, he bumped into a rock, And it hurt him so much that he hollered, "Ouch!" He rubbed his head and looked around, And saw that the rock was shaped like a clown. He started to laugh, and he couldn't stop, And soon all the other jellyfish were laughing too. They laughed and laughed until they cried, And then they all went home to bed, satisfied.

- The Cat in the Hat by Dr. Seuss

The Cat in the Hat is a silly cat, He makes a mess wherever he goes. He wears a red and white hat, And a big bow tie, And he always has a smile on his face. One day, he comes to visit two children, And they have a lot of fun. They play games, and they sing songs, And they make a big mess. But then, the Cat in the Hat has to go, And the children are sad to see him leave. But they know that they'll never forget him, And they'll always smile when they think of him.

- The Sneetches by Dr. Seuss

The Sneetches are a silly race, They have stars on their bellies, Except for one Sneetch, Who has no star at all. The Sneetches with stars, They think they're so great, They look down on the Sneetch, With no star on his belly. But then, one day, A machine comes to town, And it gives all the Sneetches, Stars on their bellies. Now, the Sneetches with stars, They're not so great, And the Sneetch with no star, Is finally happy.
