- Biting. If your bird is biting, try to identify the cause of the biting. Is your bird biting because it is afraid, aggressive, or seeking attention? - Feather plucking. Feather plucking is a common problem in birds. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including stress, boredom, and medical problems. If your bird is plucking its feathers, it is important to take it to a veterinarian to rule out any medical problems. Once any medical problems have been ruled out, you can then begin to address the underlying cause of the feather plucking.
- Screaming. Screaming is another common problem in birds. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including boredom, loneliness, and attention-seeking. If your bird is screaming, try to identify the cause of the screaming and then address it. avoid the object or situation that is causing the phobia. You can also try to desensitize your bird to the object or situation by gradually exposing it to it in a controlled environment.
