From the silver screen to the tabloids, these stars were the epitome of celebrity. They were the subject of endless gossip and speculation, and their lives were often as dramatic as the movies they starred in.

Here are some of the most iconic celebrity actors and entertainers of the Golden Age:

Clark Gable

Clark Gable was one of the most popular and enduring stars of the Golden Age. He was known for his rugged good looks, his charming personality, and his iconic roles in films such as Gone with the Wind and It Happened One Night.

Gable was a true Hollywood icon. He was married six times, including to Carole Lombard and Vivien Leigh. He died in 1960 at the age of 59.

Marilyn Monroe

Marilyn Monroe was the ultimate sex symbol of the Golden Age. She was known for her hourglass figure, her platinum blonde hair, and her sultry voice. Monroe starred in some of the most iconic films of all time, including Gentlemen Prefer Blondes and Some Like It Hot.

Monroe's life was as dramatic as her movies. She was married three times, including to Joe DiMaggio and Arthur Miller. She died in 1962 at the age of 36.

Humphrey Bogart

Humphrey Bogart was one of the most iconic actors of the Golden Age. He was known for his tough-guy persona, his sardonic wit, and his memorable roles in films such as The Maltese Falcon and Casablanca.

Bogart was a heavy smoker and drinker, and his health declined in his later years. He died in 1957 at the age of 57.

Katharine Hepburn

Katharine Hepburn was one of the most successful and respected actresses of the Golden Age. She was known for her independent spirit, her intelligence, and her strong-willed characters.

Hepburn starred in some of the most iconic films of all time, including The Philadelphia Story and Guess Who's Coming to Dinner. She won four Academy Awards, more than any other actress.

Hepburn died in 2003 at the age of 96.

James Dean

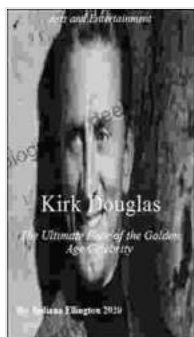

James Dean was one of the most popular and influential actors of the Golden Age. He was known for his rebellious persona, his good looks, and his tragic death.

Dean starred in only three major films, but his performances in Rebel Without a Cause and East of Eden are considered some of the greatest in cinema history.

Dean died in a car accident in 1955 at the age of 24.

These are just a few of the many iconic celebrity actors and entertainers of the Golden Age. Their faces are still instantly recognizable today, and their films continue to be enjoyed by audiences around the world.
